2010 National Honorees Prudential Spirit of Community Awards

Austen Pearce started a community garden that yielded more than 7,000 pounds of vegetables and fruit for 85 local families in need. Shannon McNamara founded a non-profit organization that's created school libraries in rural Tanzania. Kylie Kuhns established a foundation to support original programs benefiting children with cancer, in memory of her older sister.

They're just a few of the students honored in the 2010 Prudential Spirit of Community Awards for outstanding volunteer service. Over the past 15 years, Prudential has recognized more than 90,000 young volunteers at the local, state and national level. This year's 10 National Honorees each receive $5,000 and a $5,000 grant for their chosen charity. Learn more about them at spirit.prudential.com.
